

February 2021

Dear Applicant,

Re: Applications for Sixth Form 2021

On your return to school we will be asking you to participate in a short survey. The purpose of this is so that we can look at the subjects you are hoping to study in September in order that we can guide you to make informed choices about your studies Post 16.

If you're still unsure of your prospective career path however, don't forget to check out the Careers section of the VLE. You can also access www.myheplus.com - this offers individual subject pages which give you an overview of what it would be like to study the subject at A level and university level. All you need to do is access www.myheplus.com and click on a subject icon or 'search all topics' to get started. Alternatively, you could take the SACU careers quiz <https://sacu-student.com> which helps you to personalise your career pathway based on your individual responses.

Additionally, the CEIAG pages of our website are updated regularly with opportunities for students and further guidance relating to subject choices and prospective career paths. So, if you want to learn why studying Humanities, Sciences or the Arts can help you obtain your dream job, head over to this section <http://careers.stjulies.org.uk/index.php/specific-careers-links> of the CEIAG website and read all about it. If you already have an idea about what you want to pursue as a career, then our subject pages should be your first port of call.

We know it's not always easy selecting Sixth Form options, and this is why we have enlisted the help of our current Sixth Form form students to give you their views about the subjects they've chosen, and why St Julie's Sixth form should be your first choice. Head over to the 6th form section of the website <https://www.stjulies.org.uk/why-should-we-study.html> and you'll find a suite of presentations relating to the subjects we offer. Our specialist subject teachers are confident that our Sixth Form is the best place for you to extend your knowledge and deepen your understanding of the subjects you are already passionate about, so why not listen to what our students have to say about them as well?

We recognise that these are still very strange and challenging circumstances for you all, so it is really important that you continue to stay safe and healthy. I will continue to keep you informed over the coming weeks to support you with the next chapter of your learning journey which will begin when you return to St Julie's Sixth Form.

Yours faithfully,

Mrs A. Jones
Head of Upper School
