

13 March 2020

Dear Parent/Carer

Re: Year 11 Summer Series Examinations 2020

In preparation for the forthcoming summer examinations, I am writing to inform you of the necessary arrangements, and outline herewith the key information for all candidates.

It is essential that all students adhere to the JCQ (Joint Council for Qualifications) guidelines. For information, I have enclosed a copy of the instructions from JCQ. This includes the materials which can or cannot be taken into an exam room, as well as key information regarding the use of electronic devices.

Unfortunately, during the summer exam series 2014, we had two candidates who took a mobile phone into the examination room. We were duty-bound to formally report this matter to the relevant exam board. Unfortunately, both candidates received zero marks for their paper and also had marks deducted from their other qualifications. It is essential that your daughter hands her mobile phone or any other electronic devices to the Exams Team prior to each exam.

The procedures and processes for examinations must remain fair and accurate during any examination, which take place both in school and nationally. Our robust procedures ensure we remain a verified examination centre each year.

Please take time to read the enclosed information and go through this with your daughter. A copy of this information will also be placed in each examination room. Students will also be reminded at the beginning of each examination. Each student will be provided with an individual copy of their exam timetable by the end of March 2020. A copy of the full exam timetable can be accessed via our school webpage www.stjulies.org.uk. I can confirm that morning exams will commence at 9.00 am prompt and all afternoon sessions will start at 1.00 pm prompt (national start times for public examinations). Exam access arrangements are in place for identified students, however it is essential that all students check their individual exam timetable to ensure they arrive at the correct exam room.

The first exam, of the summer examination series, will start on Monday 11 May 2020, and the last exam will be on Wednesday 27 June 2020 (this will vary for individual students). The final date of exams will not involve all students and it is important to check the school website for further details. Students must arrive to school at least 30-minutes before an exam to give them plenty of time to prepare before the exam starts. A free breakfast will be available from 8.00 am for all Year 11 students during the summer exam series (from Monday 11 May 2020), which will include a hot and cold breakfast as well as fruit and water. Bespoke revision sessions will also continue in the lead up to exams. All students must wear full school uniform for all public examinations and revision sessions.

We will continue to encourage students to attend all revision sessions and we expect all students to have their revision plans well underway by this stage in the year. All students have been provided with a revision timetable and continue to receive support on a daily basis within lessons, and during lunch-time and after-school sessions. Revision materials (including GCSE Pod and a USB pen with past papers and mark schemes) were given to all students before Christmas. Additional revision resources will be provided in the lead up to public examinations. We encourage students to study for a minimum of three hours each evening in order to achieve the very best outcomes in their GCSE exams.

Study leave will not be permitted for any student during the examination season. Previous years have demonstrated that students achieve higher grades by being present in school and attending all lessons and additional revision sessions. Masterclasses will be built into the school timetable in the lead up to examinations. Year 11 students will have exclusive access to B001, which has a full suite of computers and will be available throughout the day. Normal attendance procedures will continue throughout the exam season.

In preparation for the Summer Exam Series 2020, please find outlined below the responsibilities of ALL students:

- All Year 11 report to the dining room from 8.00 am each morning, starting from Monday 11 May. Students must report to this area no later than 8.30am each morning. A free breakfast will be available each morning for all Year 11 students throughout the exam season.
- Students use the sign in sheets on arrival at the dining room.
- Students must check and double check their seat number (displayed in the dining room or on their individual exam timetable). Once Year 11 Form Tutors arrive to register students there must be silence.
- Each exam venue and seat row will be called out. Students entitled to exam access arrangements will be called first (8.40 am) and directed to the correct exam room.
- Students must listen carefully to instructions and then line up in the dining room (8.45am), where the Progress Leader and Assistant Progress Leader will be present to check attendance, tick present on the seating plan list and line students up in the correct seating order. Students will then be escorted by a member of staff to the relevant exam venue from this point.
- All students must place their mobile phones in their locker or Changing Room 5 by 8.30am each day.
- All students must remain on site and attend lessons or revision as normal until 3.15pm each day.
- For PM examinations Year 11, students must report to the dining room no later than 12.30 pm. Students must use the signing-in sheets on arrival at the dining room.
- All students must adhere to the JCQ guidelines which relate to conduct during examinations.
- Any bags or personal belongings must be kept to a minimum and placed in Changing Room 5 (this room will then be locked during exams). School will take no responsibility for the loss of valuable items. All valuable items must be handed in prior to the start of the exam, this does not include electronic devices or mobile phones which must be handed to a member of staff prior to entering the exam room.

If you have any further questions regarding the content of this letter, please do not hesitate to contact school. Thank you for your continued support of your daughter's education and we wish her the very best of luck in her forthcoming examinations.

Yours faithfully

Information for Candidates

Information About You and How We Use It

You have entered general or vocational qualifications such as GCSE, A-level, functional skills qualifications etc with one or more of the awarding bodies listed above. In order to be able to provide examinations and assessments, the awarding body needs to collect and use information about you. This notice provides you with a high level summary of the information the awarding body is required by law to give you about of what happens to that information. For more detail see each awarding body's full Privacy Notice:

Who we are and how to contact us

Each awarding body is a separate organisation. Your school or examination centre will be able to confirm to you which awarding body is delivering each qualification you are undertaking and you will receive a statement confirming what qualifications you have been entered for and which awarding body. You will find links to each awarding body's website and information on how to contact them here: www.jcq.org.uk/contact-us/contact-details-for-jcq-and-members.

Information about you and from where it is obtained

Each awarding body whose qualifications you enter will need to use a variety of information about you. This includes obvious identification details such as your name, address, date of birth and your school or examination centre. It also includes information about your gender, race and health, where appropriate. This information is provided by you or your parents/guardians and/or by your school or examination centre.

Each awarding body will create certain information about you such as a candidate number, examination results and certificates.

You will find further information about this in the awarding bodies' full Privacy Notice (see links above) or by contacting the awarding body (see above).

What happens to the information about you

The awarding bodies use the information about you to deliver the examinations and assessments which you have entered. This includes making a variety of arrangements for you to sit the examinations or assessments, marking, providing you and your school or centre with results and certificates. The awarding bodies also use some of the information about you for equality monitoring and other statistical analysis.

The awarding bodies may share information about your results with official bodies such as the Department for Education and the examinations regulators (eg Ofqual in England) and also relevant local authorities and the Universities and Colleges Admissions Service (UCAS). An awarding body may also use information about you to investigate cheating and other examination malpractice and will share information about malpractice with other awarding bodies.

The awarding bodies take the security of the information about you that they hold seriously.

You will find further, technical information about what the awarding bodies do with information about you, why and the legal basis in the awarding bodies' full Privacy Notice, which can be accessed here (see links on page one) or by contacting the awarding body (see above).

Your rights

The law gives you a number of rights in relation to the information about you that the awarding bodies holds. Those rights are:

- Access – you are entitled to ask each awarding body about the information it holds about you.
- Rectification – you are entitled to ask each awarding body to correct any errors in the information that it holds about you.
- Erasure – in certain circumstances you are entitled to ask each awarding body to erase the information about you that it holds.
- Object to or restrict processing – in certain circumstances you are entitled to ask each awarding body to stop using information about you in certain ways.
- Complain – you are entitled to complain to the Information Commissioner (the body regulating the use of personal information) about what each awarding body does with information about you.

You will find further information about your rights in relation to information about you in the awarding bodies' full Privacy Notice, which can be accessed here (see links on page one) or by contacting the awarding body (see above).

How long the information about you is held

Each awarding body retains information about you only for as long as it is needed. Some of the information is needed only during the period in which you are undertaking the examination or assessment and is securely destroyed a short while afterwards. Other information about you, such as your name, gender, address, qualification and subjects entered and the results, are held indefinitely and for at least 40 years.

Each awarding body has its own retention policy that sets out what information it retains, how it is retained and for how long. You can find out more about retention policies by contacting each awarding body (see above).

How to find out more about the information about you that the awarding bodies use

To find out more about the information about you that the awarding bodies collect and use, including what happens to that information why, you can review the awarding bodies' full Privacy Notice, which can be accessed here (see links on page one) or contact the awarding body. You will find links to each awarding body's website and information on how to contact them here: www.jcq.org.uk/contact-us/contact-details-for-jcq-and-members.

Please note

It is important to note that this notice concerns only how the awarding bodies use information about you (called your "personal data"). Complaints about how an awarding body handles your personal data can be made to the Information Commissioner (www.ico.org.uk). Information about the examinations and assessment themselves, including the rules about assessments, can be found on the JCQ Exams Office pages (www.jcq.org.uk/exams-office). The awarding bodies are regulated by Ofqual (<https://www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofqual>) in England; Qualifications Wales (www.qualificationswales.org) in Wales, and the Council for the Curriculum, Examinations and Assessment (<http://ccea.org.uk/regulation>) in Northern Ireland.

Information for candidates: non-examination assessments

This document tells you about some things that you must and must not do when you are completing your work.

When you submit your work for marking, the awarding body will normally require you to sign an authentication statement confirming that you have read and followed these regulations.

If there is anything that you do not understand, you must ask your teacher.

Preparing your work – good practice

If you receive help and guidance from someone other than your teacher, you must tell your teacher who will then record the nature of the assistance given to you.

If you worked as part of a group on an assignment, for example undertaking field research, you must each write up your own account of the assignment. Even if the data you have is the same, you must describe in your own words how that data was obtained and you must independently draw your own conclusions from the data.

You must meet the deadlines that your teacher gives you. Remember - your teachers are there to guide you. Although they cannot give you direct assistance, they can help you to sort out any problems before it is too late.

Take care of your work and keep it safe. Do not leave it lying around where your classmates can find it. You must always keep your work secure and confidential whilst you are preparing it; do not share it with your classmates. If it is stored on the computer network, keep your password secure. Collect all copies from the printer and destroy those you do not need.

Do not be tempted to use pre-prepared on-line solutions — this is cheating. Electronic tools used by awarding bodies can detect this sort of copying.

You must not write inappropriate, offensive or obscene material.

Research and using references

In some subjects you will have an opportunity to do some independent research into a topic. The research you do may involve looking for information in published sources such as textbooks, encyclopedias, journals, TV, radio and on the internet.

Using information from published sources (including the internet) as the basis for your assignment is a good way to demonstrate your knowledge and understanding of a subject. You must take care how you use this material though - you cannot copy it and claim it as your own work.

The regulations state that:

the work which you submit for assessment must be your own;

you must not copy from someone else or allow another candidate to copy from you.

When producing a piece of work, if you use the same wording as a published source you must place quotation marks around the passage and state where it came from. This is called "referencing". You must make sure that you give detailed references for everything in your work which is not in your own words. A reference from a printed book or journal should show the name of the author, the year of publication and the page number, for example: Morrison, 2000, pg.29.

For material taken from the internet, your reference should show the date when the material was downloaded and must show the precise web page, not the search engine used to locate it. This can be copied from the address line. For example: <http://www.geocases2.co.uk/rural1.htm> downloaded 5 February 2020.

You may be required to include a bibliography at the end of your piece of written work. Your teacher will tell you whether a bibliography is necessary. Where required, your bibliography must list the full details of publications you have used in your research, even where these are not directly referred to, for example: Curran, J. Mass Media and Society (Hodder Arnold, 2005).

If you copy the words or ideas of others and do not show your sources in references and a bibliography, this will be considered as cheating.

Plagiarism

Plagiarism involves taking someone else's words, thoughts or ideas and trying to pass them off as your own. It is a form of cheating which is taken very seriously.

Do not think you will not be caught; there are many ways to detect plagiarism.

- Markers can spot changes in the style of writing and use of language.
- Markers are highly experienced subject specialists who are very familiar with work on the topic concerned — they may have read or seen the source you are using, or even marked the work you have copied from!
- Internet search engines and specialised computer software can be used to match phrases or pieces of text with original sources and to detect changes in the grammar and style of writing or punctuation.

Penalties for breaking the regulations

If your work is submitted and it is discovered that you have broken the regulations, one of the following penalties will be applied:

- the piece of work will be awarded zero marks;
- you will be disqualified from that component for the examination series in question;
- you will be disqualified from the whole subject for that examination series;
- you will be disqualified from all subjects and barred from entering again for a period of time.

The awarding body will decide which penalty is appropriate.

REMEMBER – IT'S YOUR QUALIFICATION SO IT NEEDS TO BE YOUR OWN WORK

Information for candidates Using social media and examinations/assessments

Image by Patrice Jones

This document has been written to help you stay within examination regulations.
Please read it carefully.

We all like to share our experiences when taking examinations. However, it is important to consider what you say and to think about what information is being shared.

Sharing ideas with others online could be helpful when you're studying or revising.

However, there are limits to the amount of information you can share and you need to be careful not to break the rules. We'd like to ask you to act responsibly when discussing online. If you're in doubt about what you can and can't discuss online regarding your exams, it's always best to check with your teacher.

If you receive what is or what looks to be assessment related information through social media, or any other means, you must tell your teacher or another member of staff. You must show them what you have received (if available). They will then report the matter to the awarding body and it will be investigated.

Where candidates breach the rules for examinations, controlled assessments, coursework or non-examination assessments, awarding bodies have an obligation to investigate and may apply penalties.

Image by Ben Wight

You should be aware that the following constitute malpractice:

- copying or allowing work to be copied – i.e. posting written work on social networking sites prior to an examination/assessment;
- collusion: working collaboratively with other candidates beyond what is permitted;
- allowing others to help produce your work or helping others with theirs;
- being in possession of confidential assessment related information in advance of the examination;
- exchanging, obtaining, receiving (even if not requested) or passing on assessment related information by any means of communication (even if just attempting to);
- failing to report to your centre assessment related information being shared online; or
- passing on rumours of exam content.

Penalties that awarding bodies apply include:

- a written warning;
- the loss of marks for a section, component or unit;
- disqualification from a unit, all units or qualifications; or
- a ban from taking assessments or exams for a set period of time.

Please take the time to familiarise yourself with the JCQ rules:
